as I was working on the O&H book today I decided to include the account that was published in the Carbondale Advance of June 8, 1872 of an accident at Olyphant in which John Copeland of Carbondale was seriously injured. I am very intent on giving the O&H book a broad geographical scope/reference, so this Olyphant accident seemed like a good decision for inclusion. As I typed up the account of the accident, I couldn't believe my eyes when I read: "Medical aid was immediately obtained, and Dr. Leet of Scranton, then at the dying bed of Esquire Russell of Fell township, summoned to meet him here on the return of the train." (underlining by SRP). Esquire Russell was Mom's paternal grandfather,
